METHOD FOR TRANSMITTING DATA IN A MULTI-CHIP SYSTEM

Abstract

A multi-chip system has at least a host chip and at least a slave chip. The slave chip informs the host chip of data needed to be transmitted. When informed by the slave chip the host chip informs the slave chip to start to transmit the data, and when informed by the host chip the slave chip starts to transmit the data to the host chip.